"Ensuring the access of all citizens to government information and to essential information for human development is a must for every democratic society."

-- Koïchiro Matsuura